

11. The level of sound in the room is elevated, indicating that children and teaching staff are involved in communication and learning activities.

11a. Children are actively engaged with materials, objects, and activities with peers and adults.

Description:

Children are engaged with singing and dancing in this circle time activity.

Description: This child is using a musical instrument during a teacher directed activity.

11. The level of sound in the room is elevated, indicating that children and teaching staff are involved in communication and learning activities.

11b. The sounds from the room reflect conversations, singing, music, and other activities.

Description: In the block area, children are talking to one another and making vehicle (truck and car) sounds during imaginative play.

Description:

In the dramatic play area, children are talking to one another and imitating words and phrases they hear at home as they engage in imaginative play. These activities support communication, social, and cognitive development.